John Allman

Parliamentary Candidate
Cheadle By-Election, 14 July 2005

Human rights, dignity and freedoms first

Living in Cheadle constituency at this time has given you the opportunity of a lifetime, to do something intelligent and noble, in the glare of nationwide publicity, something which could have repercussions that will benefit not just Cheadle people, but all mankind.

I am asking please to cast your vote, not to further "tactically" the historically unimportant local rivalry between Tory and Lib Dem party career party politicians. Still less am I hoping that you will vote solely in the narrow perceived interests of your own age group, social class, ethnicity, income bracket, locality or ... whatever.

I am here to appeal to your better nature. I am asking you please to vote unselfishly, to boost the hopes of people presently suffering grimly or at risk, like those listed overleaf, and many others.

- Future child victims of war, like the ten year-old amputee Iraqi orphan I met at a fringe meeting of the Labour Party conference last September, when I was an exhibitor there on behalf of the Christians Against Mental Slavery group (www.Slavery.org.uk); she had lost all seventeen of her blood relatives, and one of her own legs, from just one of the unnumbered not-so-smart bombs that were recently dropped on her homeland
- The children dying worldwide today, as a result of poverty caused by unfair trade rules
- The bereaved families of British servicemen killed in Iraq, servicemen who did not realise when they joined up how "expendable" their lives were going to be, in the politicians' eyes
- Detainees (usually detained without a fair trial) who are being tortured, for example at Guantanamo Bay
- Alleged victims of electromagnetic weapons testing and deployment, who contact me often, from within the UK and from worldwide
- Those who will be tricked into marrying "transgendered" spouses unawares, because the "politically correct" Gender Recognition Act denies you and everybody else the right to know the true birth gender of someone one is planning to marry
- Jewish people fleeing pogroms in Russia, and others, who might be deported to their deaths, if refused asylum, perhaps because of a harsh, European Union common policy on asylum and immigration.

Please phone me, email me, visit the Alliance For Change website, or catch me on By-election Any Questions on Gatley.net, to learn more about why voting for your local Alliance For Change parliamentary candidate is the honourable way to vote this time.
